MLA DOCUMENTATION

A guide to:

• In-text citations
• The Works Cited page
• Formatting the essay
• & More
MLA – An Overview

- MLA Stands for Modern Language Association.
- It is important to cite all information taken from any outside source.
- It is important to identify and acknowledge the source from which the information was taken.
MLA – An Overview

MLA accomplishes source attribution through the use of:

- In-Text Citations
  - Attributes sources in your paper as you discuss them.

- A Reference Page
  - A list of sources used in your essay with more complete information about the sources.

In-Text Citation:

Delano is described as “a man of such native simplicity as to be incapable of satire or irony” (Melville 287).

IN-TEXT CITATIONS

EXAMPLES & EXPLANATIONS
IN-TEXT (PARENTHEtical) DOCUMENTATION – OVERVIEW

In-Text Citations:

- Show readers from where the information was taken.
- Direct the reader to the Works Cited page.
- Are placed as close as possible to the borrowed material.
Delano blames the strange behavior of Don Benito on either some sort of elaborate performance or insanity (Melville 288).

This is a paraphrase; none of the author’s words from the original text are used, but it does repeat the author’s ideas.

Paraphrases MUST be cited to avoid plagiarism.

Paraphrasing is easiest when taking a large amount of material and condensing it into a few sentences (for example, summarizing a scientific study or the meaning of a stanza of poetry).
Delano is described as “a man of such native simplicity as to be incapable of satire or irony” (Melville 287).

The citation follows the quotation marks, but the period comes after the parenthesis.
In-Text Citation – Block Quote

Block Quote, Author Cited in Text:

In Melville’s text, Delano continuously misreads the activities on the Spanish ship:

Though the remark of Captain Delano, a man of such native simplicity as to be incapable of satire or irony, had been dropped in playful allusion to the Spaniard’s singularly evidenced lordship over the black; yet the hypochondriac seemed in some way to have taken it as a malicious reflection upon his confessed inability thus far to break down, at last, on a verbal summons, the entrenched will of the slave. (287)

• There are no quotation marks because the quote is clearly offset from the rest of the text.
• Punctuation comes before the citation for block quotes only.
• Since the author of the work is given in the text, it is not necessary to repeat it in the Citation.
  • In this case only the page number is given.
In-Text Citations - Using One of Two Sources by the Same Author.

Sometimes you will need to cite two essays by more than one author. In that case, here is how you would cite that:

- The railways forced “cities across England to standardize how they kept time so that the train schedules could be constructed” (Ramsey, “Railways”).
- Give the Author’s last name followed by a comma and the title of the work. Punctuation still comes after the parenthesis.
In-Text Citation — More than one Author

Sometimes a work will have more than one author. In that case, here is how you would cite that:

- Twenty percent of all participants had brown eyes (Kretzke, Sheamus and Bacon 32).
- Most people surveyed said they had one eye with blurry vision (Kramer et. al 23).
- If there are 2 or 3 authors write all of their last names in the parenthetical citation or in-text.
- If there are 4 or more authors write the first authors last name followed by et. al in the parenthetical citation.

MLA PAPER FORMAT

EXAMPLE & EXPLANATION
MLA Paper Format

MLA guidelines state all margins should be set at one inch.

MLA recommends using twelve point font, generally Times New Roman, and essays are generally written double-spaced.

MLA recommends a header be placed one half inch from the top of the page and should include your last name and the page number right aligned.

Instead of using a Title Page, MLA formatting recommends the information be found at the top of the first page, left aligned and double spaced.

- This includes: Your Name, The Professor’s Name, The Class, The Date in that order

The Title is then Centered.

“Hero and Leander” and Feminine Beauty as Deception

Christopher Marlowe’s “Hero and Leander” has been discussed by many literary critics in regards to the poem’s explicit sexual content, and justifiably so. “Hero and Leander” is full of sexual imagery, and the narrator showcases both Hero and Leander as sexual objects throughout the poem. While we are supposed to see Hero as a chaste woman, John Leonard contends that the narrator’s main goal is to discredit Hero (58).

While instances of Hero’s deception can be seen, Leander’s beauty can be seen as...

ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY

Be sure to read the professor’s guidelines very carefully for formatting and what exactly should be included in the Annotation.

Annotated Bibliography

Janell, Randall. “Robert Frost’s “Home Burial.”” Critical Reading and Writing Across the Disciplines. Ed. Cynthia Susan Clegg. New York: Holt, 1998. 485-488. Randall Janell, a respected poet himself, analyzes the dramatic dialogue and action of Robert Frost’s “Home Burial,” showing how the rhythms of the lines and the word choices illustrate the separate ways of grieving and the failure of the couple to reach an understanding of each other’s pain at the loss of their child. Janell’s emphasis on the husband’s dominating manner will support my own view that the husband attempts to devolve his wife’s feelings, suggesting a pattern in their relationship that has caused previous anguish and explains her rejection of his efforts to appease her.
