Dangerous Assumptions

The things people do thinking it will spare our feelings…
Crushes them,
The things people think don't hurt you…
Does,
The things people do thinking it will protect…
Kills you.

Life

Why is life so difficult?
Every question is hard to get the answer to.
Sorta like math.
Life can be defined as $x^2 + 6x + 8$
A question everyone wants to solve,
Stumps most people who attempt it,
More fail than those who succeed,
But it doesn't mean the answer isn't there
It just means there's work to do to get it
Trying to get around it is only looking for trouble and confusion.
You're always looking for the right way to do it
But really, it's all in trial and error.
So if you don't attempt, you'll never know how to do it.
