About Lifelong Learning
AT OHIO STATE LIMA

The Lifelong Learning Institute (LLI) at The Ohio State University at Lima is a program of the Road Scholar Institute and offers classes for mature adults on four Tuesdays and Thursdays in April and October each year. LLI is an independent volunteer organization sponsored by Ohio State Lima since 1991.

Individual classes last one and one half hours and meet at the same time each week. You may sign up for as many or as few classes as you wish. Since classroom size is limited, please register early for the courses you plan to attend.

LLI contributes a portion of the tuition you pay to the Lifelong Learning Institute Scholarship Fund for nontraditional students at Ohio State Lima.
Review the courses and register online at go.osu.edu/llifall2023 or complete and return the registration form on page 7. We can now take credit card payments online.

Weather is Always on My Mind

10:00 to 11:30 a.m., October 10

MODERATOR | Dr. Aaron Wilson, Ohio State University Extension field specialist and state climatologist

Join Dr. Wilson as we chat about weather and climate. We will explore how our climate is changing and highlight some of the impacts we feel here in Ohio. We will also have a small activity to drive home the similarities and differences between weather and climate.

Thomas Jefferson, American Sphinx

10:00 to 11:30 a.m., October 17

MODERATOR | Chuck Schierloh spent 50 years in the classroom, teaching every grade level from 7th grade through graduate school.

A 1996 book called Thomas Jefferson The American Sphinx. Historians have argued for centuries about his true nature. This presentation will attempt to peel back the layers of a truly complicated and mysterious person.

Artificial Intelligence Role in Our Lives

10:00 to 11:30 a.m., October 24

MODERATOR | Dr. Dean Cristol, associate professor, College of Education and Human Ecology

This session will provide an introduction to the fascinating world of artificial intelligence, or AI, and its impact on our lives. The audience will be provided with an AI overview, how it works and its many real-world applications and benefits. Dr. Cristol will address concerns around data privacy, security, bias and other ethical concerns and participants will get hands-on opportunities to use AI.
Othello, Verdi and Orson Welles

Tuesday afternoon class will include both the 1:00 p.m. and 2:45 sessions

We will study Shakespeare’s play with Judy Gilbert, learn about opera and other musical adaptations from Bob Mix and watch Othello in film with David Adams.

Knueven Creamery is a small dairy farm in northwest Ohio that processes the milk from only their dairy cows. They will discuss the processing of whole milk that is low-temperature vat pasteurized, not ultra pasteurized like supermarket milk and why the nutritional value may be different. They will touch on farm practices and you will learn about the processes of cheese making and ice cream.

Interacting with Nature

2:45 p.m., October 12 and 26, with Johnny Appleseed Metropolitan Park District Naturalist Dan Hodges

October 12: Intro to Nature Journaling

Nature journaling is a great way to be present in nature, appreciate and record it. Using works, pictures, and numbers, nature journaling offers an opportunity to try to capture a moment and recall observations that may otherwise be forgotten. Hodges will offer a brief introduction, discussing benefits, tools, and methods and then facilitate trying it out for ourselves!

October 26: Birds and Bird Feeding

Now is the time to do some great bird watching – the birds come to you! Hodges returns to present on resident birds, those that stick around all winter, and how to attract them to your yard. We’ll also discuss a community science monitoring program that you can participate in!
